Dear Keith,

Thank you for contacting Massachusetts General Hospital to request an interview with me for your documentary film, Chromosomally Enhanced: What's your superpower? As the Director of the Down Syndrome Program and Emma Campbell Endowed Chair on Down Syndrome, I would be delighted to be the medical professional to educate the viewer on Down syndrome for your film. I have been working with infants and children with Down syndrome as well as their families for years. I am certain that your work will be a wonderful tribute to all the families nationally who have a loved one with Down syndrome. Society so often, due to lack of understanding, may not fully understand the amazing spirit of a child or young person with Down syndrome, and your story could help change that.

It is critical that their stories are shared with the general population. I would be honored to work with you as you proceed with the production of this film.

I look forward to being featured and sharing with the audience a deeper understand of the superpower you're focusing on in the film of the extra chromosome.

I am confident your film will be a must-see for the general public.

Sincerely,
